

BigCatOS Privacy Policy

Simply said: BigCatOS does not collect or share with third parties your personal information. There is no server backend to save cookies, device data, browsing habits, analytics or anything else. These are simple Apps, written for a single person's private use that do not communicate off-device except in cases where you take explicit action: you are fully responsible for any information that you share from an App.

Apps request permission before accessing personal and confidential data such as Photos and location information.

App Settings are saved on-device and will be captured by an OS backup; however, there is no private information in your Settings.
